Welcome to Hays 3

More than 45 years ago, the Hays Arts Council was established — the first of its kind formed in the state of Kansas.

This organization, along with Fort Hays State University, public and private schools, the city of Hays, numerous artists, performers, musicians and a population with an appreciation for the arts have made Hays a unique community with an abundance of cultural opportunities throughout the year.

Opportunities abound with four seasonal art walks, fine art and photography competitions, children's programs, exhibitions, music performances, the Encore Series, entertaining theater and creative dance to mention a few.

I moved here from Colorado more than six years ago, and one of the determining factors influencing this move was "Hays Arts." Hays is second to none when it comes to the impact the arts have on a community, starting with our young people.

Arts play a valuable role in shaping a community's values, attitudes and outlook. Arts communities foster creativity and encourage participation in all community activities from a diverse range of people. This creative attitude makes life worth living.

Welcome to Hays, Kansas! Enjoy the arts and our unique community.

4 Hays Arts Council

In the more than 45 years since the beginning of the Hays Arts Council, members have had many reasons to celebrate. Through their tireless effort and devotion, they have enriched the lives of Hays residents and the surrounding area and have raised the level of arts awareness.

The Hays Arts Council was incorporated in October 1967, an event that began two years earlier, when Vivian Meckel, owner of Hays Music Co., introduced legislation in the Kansas Legislature to establish and fund the Kansas Cultural Commission. The Hays Arts Council then became the first arts council in the state.

In 1998, the Hays Arts Council received the Governor's Arts Award for Arts Organization, the state's highest honor for arts excellence. And in 2010, Hays was recognized as the Kansas Governor's Arts Award for Arts Community. The award recognized the community's leadership in the arts.

The role of the Hays Arts Council has changed dramatically since its inception — from simply a supporter of cultural events planned and sponsored by other community organizations to an active sponsor of annual events enriching the cultural atmosphere.

Fostering and encouraging the arts has made the community a better place to live and continues to play an important role in the future growth and development of Hays and Ellis County. After more than 45 years, HAC continues to accept with pride the inherent responsibility to provide "the arts for all."

GALLERY WALKS

With each season, the Hays Arts Council hosts a gallery walk in downtown Hays to feature local artists and their works as well as local businesses that host the artwork and musical performances.

Gallery walks take place in April, June, August and December of each year. Along with multiple downtown locations, the Sternberg Museum of Natural History and Moss-Thorns Gallery at Fort Hays State University also host art exhibitions in conjunction with the gallery walks.

SPECIAL EXHIBITIONS

The Smoky Hill Art Exhibition is unveiled during the Hays Arts Council's spring gallery walk each year in April and runs through June. It is a statewide, juried fine art competition.

The exhibition usually includes original paintings, prints, drawings, photographs, sculpture and ceramics from artists throughout Kansas.

The Five-State Photography Competition and Exhibition is a regional fine art competition open to any photographer living in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado. The exhibition runs mid-December through January each year and opens with a reception during the Hays Arts Council's annual winter gallery walk.

EDUCATION

The Hays Arts Council annually sponsors educational programming in Hays and surrounding schools. Famous Figures is an annual competition for Ellis County fifth-graders in which they portray a significant person in the nation's history.

Creative Writing Awards are given annually to students in kindergarten through 12th grade for creative literary works. The winners in each category and class are included in a booklet developed by the Hays Arts Council.

Summer classes including art and acting training are provided for Hays youth. The arts council also sponsors family theater programs throughout the year for children and adults. Art and music residency programs also are provided in schools by the council.
